Kremlin Eyes Propaganda Coup U.S. Is Confident Of Upsetting Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. strategists today figured Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has a short term goal of a two-way propaganda victory out of the troubles in the Congo.

But they expressed confidence that the United States, through caution and cooperation with others, could help the West and discredit the Kremlin's tactics before the bar of world opinion.

Hits 'Rocket-Rattling'
Washington Friday night accused Khrushchev of trying to interfere by a "rocket-rattling" threat to intervene in the African land.

A State Department statement denounced as "intemperate, misleading and irresponsible" his message to Congo leaders Joseph Kasavubu and Patrice Lumumba.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the Congo chiefs had told Khrushchev they would seek Soviet intervention "if the Western camp does not desist from aggression." Belgium has sent in troops for the avowed purpose of protecting its citizens from mutinous Congo soldiers. Now the United Nations is dispatching troops from other African countries to help restore order.

Khrushchev, who last Monday accused the United States of leading a Western move to restore colonial rule over the former Belgian colony, said in his reply to the Congo chiefs:

"If states which are directly carrying out imperialist aggression against the Congo Republic and those who are pushing them onto it continue their criminal actions, the U. S. S. R. will not shrink from resolute measures to curb the aggression."

See False Picture
U. S. authorities believed Khrushchev was deliberately presenting a false picture of the Congo situation in a drive to reap propaganda gain no matter what happens.

One Khrushchev aim, they figured, is to tag Uncle Sam with an "aggressor" label just as he has tried to do in Cuba and elsewhere.

Secondly, they expected him to gain credit when calm returns to the Congo and the augmented outside forces are pulled out.

Over the longer range, they are convinced that the Kremlin has its eye on the Congo as on other areas of newly-awakening Africa and sees unrest and instability as fertile seeds for spreading communism.

Prompted by the recent refusal of the Health Department to issue a permit to use the newly developed Port Ewen area for bathing, Mayor Edwin F. Radel met Friday with county and town officials to discuss elimination of pollution in the Rondout Creek and Hudson River south from Kingston.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Radel, Anselmo L. Dappert, representing the Water Pollution Control Board; City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan; Harry Edinger, director of the Ulster County Environment Institution and Town of Esopus Supervisor Roger Mabie.

The main purpose of the meeting was to discuss possible ways of clearing up the area in question to the satisfaction of the Health Department, so that stream pollution would be abated and potential use and development can take place.

Kennedy Vows Creative Role; Asserts Decisions Will Be Own

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy took personal command of the Democratic party machinery today after bluntly laying the religious issue on the campaign line.

In a dramatic address accepting the first presidential nomination given to a Roman Catholic since 1828, Kennedy told a cheering throng of 60,000 in Los Angeles sprawling Coliseum Friday night:

To Meet Press

"I am telling you now what you are entitled to know: That my decisions on every public policy will be my own—as an American, a Democrat and a free man."

With that position fixed, Kennedy called his first general news conference since the party convention gave him its top nomination.

Moments after the sun had dipped below the rim of the vast stadium, Kennedy strode to the podium of temporary stands to lay down a blueprint for a fighting campaign to carry America beyond the "New Frontier" into a space age he said demands "a new generation of leadership."

Puts Religion on Line
But as a preliminary to his promise to provide "creative Democratic leadership in the White House," the 43-year-old Massachusetts senator grasped the issue of his Catholicism as the forelock and shook it out for his GOP opponents to inspect.

"I hope no American, considering the critical issues facing this country, will waste his franchise by voting either for me or against me solely on account of my religious affiliation," he said.

The shirt-sleeved crowd, which filled about two-thirds of the expansive reaches of seats roared back its approval.

And, speaking with scorn, Kennedy brought up the name of the man certain to lead the Republican Party against Kennedy in the fall—Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The Democratic candidate described Nixon as "a man who has spoken or voted on every known issue."

Mr. Nixon may feel it is his turn now, after the New Deal and the Fair Deal—but the cards will be cut before he deals," Kennedy said.

Group Pushing Rocky Draft to Woo Democrats

CHICAGO (AP) — The "Draft-Rockefeller" people are planning to use a donkey-venerable symbol of the Democratic Party to woo support for their man at the Republican National Convention.

"The donkey," explained Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay, "is practicing to wear a sign saying, 'Democrats for Rockefeller.'" Mrs. Lindsay is the group's state chairman.

"At least 15 per cent of the people contacting us are Democrats who say they voted for Adlai Stevenson last time, but now feel the Rockefeller is their man," she said.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy's card cutting reference "was prompted by the fact that he has been playing with his own stacked deck at the Democratic convention."

Turning to world affairs, Kennedy defined the "New Frontier"—which he obviously hoped to make as much of a catch phrase as the New Deal and Fair Deal had become—as "a frontier of unknown opportunities and perils

—a frontier of unfilled hopes and threats."

"Beyond that frontier are uncharted areas of science and space, unsolved problems of peace and war, unconquered pockets of ignorance and prejudice, unanswered questions of poverty and surplus," he said.

He said the times demand "invention, innovation, imagination, decision."

"For courage—not complacency—is our need today, leadership, not salesmanship," he said. "Are we up to the task—are we equal to the challenge? Are we willing to match the Russian sacrifice of the present for the future—or must we sacrifice our future in order to enjoy the present?"

This was the Kennedy of the youth crusade which he apparently intends to conduct during the general election campaign.

Behind him was Kennedy, the practical politician, who took over the Massachusetts Senate in 1960.

Count on Kennedy's Help Mahoney, Carlino Targets for Demos

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York Democrats began drafting plans today to use presidential nominee John F. Kennedy in an all-out campaign to defeat the top two Republican state legislative leaders.

Their targets will be Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

The Democratic planning was under way as the delegation headed for the five-day convention, however, and left Los Angeles Friday.

Most returned home. Several headed for such fun spots as Las Vegas, Hawaii, and various points throughout Southern California, including Disneyland.

There was little letup in political activities of delegation leaders, however.

Tammany Leader Carmine G. DeSapio stayed over for today's meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

Nominee Sets Up High Hurdles for Aug. 8 Session

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, in winning the Democratic presidential nomination here this week, set himself some high hurdles for the Senate session opening Aug. 8.

Kennedy already was intimately involved with two of the biggest measures awaiting Senate consideration—a broadening of the minimum wage law and enactment of a medical care program for the aged.

May Prove Tough
But, in his rounds of delegate-hunting at the convention, he added two major chores which could prove even tougher to handle.

These were his proposal last Sunday that 2½ to 3 billion dollars of increased defense funds be voted in August, and his pledge to various farm groups to work next month for an emergency bill to boost farmers' income.

Both of these already have been (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Uncertainties Reflected by Market Drop

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Politics at home and troubles abroad kept business on edge this week.

A sharp drop in the stock market reflected the uncertainties.

Aircraft and missile stocks countered the trend in anticipation of more defense spending as the United States and Russia exchanged harsh words over the shooting down of a second American plane.

Emphasis to Be Same
Business circles believed "that no matter who is elected president in November the emphasis on expanded defenses will increase."

The Democratic convention was studied with keen interest in an effort to assess how nominee John F. Kennedy's policies would affect business if he is elected.

The copper industry eyed the violence which closed Congo copper mines but reported there has been little or no effect as far as the United States is concerned because supplies are ample.

With imports of sugar from Cuba cut off by presidential decree, the Agriculture Department increased the marketing quotas of domestic producers by 558,000 tons this year and of foreign producers by 137,000 tons.

Ahead of 1959 Pace
The four millionth automobile of the calendar year rolled off an assembly line this week, well ahead of the Aug. 15 date on which the mark was reached last year.

The industry's production rebound from the July 4 holiday week was restricted by widespread plant closings. Ford Motor Co. had eight plants down, five of them closed by strikes.

Chrysler and Studebaker-Packard curtailed operations in preparation for changeover to 1961 models.

Output was an estimated 104,000 cars, compared with 89,769 the previous week and 127,502 a year ago. Sales in the first third of the year.

4,000 Due By End of Next Week

Would Keep Units
For 9 to 10 Months

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold hopes to speed 6,000 troops to the troubled Congo within the next two weeks and keep them there for nine or ten months until order is restored.

This was reported today by diplomatic sources as the U.N. secretary general and top administrative aides moved with speed and urgency as they did in 1956 to dispatch a hastily organized emergency force to the Middle East after the Suez crisis.

Arrive in U. S. Planes

African units began moving into the Congolese capital of Leopoldville Friday aboard U.S. planes, only a day after the Security Council gave Hammarskjold a go-ahead to set up the task force.

Diplomats reported Hammarskjold plans to send in about 4,000 troops by the end of next week and another 2,000 by the end of the month. Most are to be Africans.

They gave this breakdown: First week—About 1,500 troops from Morocco, 1,000 from Tunisia, and 600 each from Ethiopia, Ghana and Mali.

More Troops Offered
Second week — Troops from Liberia, Morocco and Guinea — which volunteered to send its whole army. More troops from Ethiopia also have been offered, and if the force still is not complete, troops from non-African countries will be accepted.

Mali, formerly French West Africa, is reportedly volunteering the famed Senegalese—tall, strapping Negro soldiers who fought alongside Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French in World War II.

Friday night Hammarskjold gave temporary command of the growing force to an American Negro civilian, U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche.

Roland A. Riegel Resigns Position As RV Principal

Roland A. Riegel, high school principal of Rondout Valley Central School District for the past 12 years, submitted his resignation this week to the board of education, effective September 30.

The announcement was made today by Kevin M. Reynolds, president of the district board of education. He said the board accepted the resignation with profound regret and granted a leave of absence to Riegel beginning Aug. 15.

Riegel indicated today that he is seeking a position as district principal or supervising principal elsewhere. He would not confirm a rumor that there had been a conflict of authority policy decisions at the school which made his move necessary.

Riegel came to Kerhonkson in 1948 as supervising principal of Kerhonkson Union Free School. He served in that capacity until 1956 when he was appointed acting supervising principal of the new district. From 1957, he has served as high school principal of the district.

Prior to his service in this district, he was director of athletics at Red Hook and Gilbertsville.

During his term of service in Kerhonkson, Riegel has been very active in community affairs. He has served as an officer of Kerhonkson Lions Club—this past year as its president—as a member of the official board of his church; as chairman of Kerhonkson Youth Commission—including a major role in the development of and organization of the swimming program and the building of the swimming pool.

Other activities have included membership in Ulster County Mental Health Committee, president of Ulster County Athletic League, membership on the Area Committee for a Community College in Ulster County, and program chairman of the Kerhonkson P-T.A.

The Board of Education, staff, and Mr. Riegel's many friends wish him every success in the future, Reynolds said.

At the direction of the board, the district principal, Edward T. Green, is receiving and reviewing applications for this position.

Realtors to Study Uptown Apartment Plan Thursday

Recent announcement that a study was being made for a 384-apartment development project at Linderman Avenue and Burgevin Street has caused considerable comment among real estate men.

It is expected the proposed housing development will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Ulster County Real Estate Board next Thursday night.

Considerable opposition to the proposal has been expressed by individual real estate men, particularly directed to the announced plan that the city's contribution to the project would be "up to 50 per cent in tax relief," how this would affect present owners of rented premises, is one of the questions being asked by several real estate owners.

Plans for a development at Linderman Avenue and Burgevin Street to provide 384 apartments, were revealed recently and are now under consideration. Some residents of the area have expressed opposition to the proposed plan which calls for eight six-story buildings. A model is now on display at the office of Mayor Edwin F. Radel at city hall.

The development would be a project of Income Fund Enterprises, Corporation of New York and construction would be under provisions of the Mitchell-Lane Act. Up to 50 per cent in tax relief would be the city's contribution to the project.

Morning service of worship during July and August is held at 9:30 a. m. Sermon by the minister on "Creation, Sin and Grace." The third in the series on Beliefs That Matter. Mrs. Roberta Gaddis, contralto will sing a selected solo. During the service provision is made for the care of small children in Church School Annex, 74 Elmendorf Street, so that parents may be free to worship in the sanctuary. Following the service, 10:40 a. m., in kindergarten room of Ramsey Hall, a study and discussion for adults and prospective school teachers is led by the pastor on Doctrines of the Christian Faith.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

St. Vincent de Paul devoted his life to the poor, the sick, the unfortunate.

When he was a young priest, he was captured by Barbary pirates and sold into slavery. But he never forgot his mission. He preached and ministered to his fellow galley slaves. Later, he converted his master and escaped.

As a free man, St. Vincent continued his charity work among slaves and established missions which later grew into the Congregation of Priests of the Mission, or "Lazarites," devoted to work among the Christian captives in Moslem lands.

Two centuries after the death of St. Vincent, young Frederic Ozanam was taunted about his faith: "Show us your works!" Guided by the principle "Find those in need and go to them," Ozanam and his friends founded a society of laymen devoted to social service and dedicated to St. Vincent.

Thus today, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul continues to minister to the ailing, feed the starving, shelter the homeless and carry on in the inspiring spirit of its patron saint.

Will Speak 3 Sundays at 1st Baptist Church

DR. FRANK A. SHARP

Guest preacher for the last three Sundays of July at First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, will be Dr. Frank A. Sharp.

Dr. Sharp, an interim pastor at the local church last year, will preach Sunday, July 17, on the subject "Why Do Good People Suffer?" Worship service will be at 10 a. m.

The Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor of First Baptist, will be on vacation during the rest of the month.

Dr. Sharp, editor's assistant and business manager of Missions Magazine, is a native of Newburgh.

In addition to his posts as editor's assistant and business manager of the magazine since 1954, Dr. Sharp also serves as circulation manager of the Crusader magazine, regular Baptist publication. Missions magazine is the denominational journal of the American Baptist Convention.

The Baptist guest preacher has served other Baptist churches in Jamestown, Huntington, Pa. and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Sharp also will preach at the local church Sunday, July 24 and 31.

District Leader To Speak at City Methodist Church

The guest preacher at the 10 a. m. service Sunday at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets, will be the Rev. George P. Werner, the new superintendent of the Kingston District of the Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Werner, who served as minister of the Saugerties Methodist Church for several years, became superintendent of the district July 1 succeeding the Rev. W. Bernard Grossman. He resides at the district parsonage, 220 Albany Avenue.

The congregation of the Roundout Presbyterian Church is joining in union vacation services at Trinity Church during the month of July. During August the union services will be held at the Roundout Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Donald McMillan, pastor.

Sunday, July 24, Dixon McGrath, local preacher of the Methodist Church will preach. Sunday, July 31, Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, resident bishop of the New York Area of the Methodist Church will preach at the 10 o'clock service.

Churchgoing President Is Traditional

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Candidates' religions may or may not play an important part in presidential campaigns. But one thing is certain. They do well to belong to some church.

It has been a long time—nearly 80 years—since President Rutherford B. Hayes could cheerfully admit he belonged to no church although he attended Methodist services on occasion.

Thirty-three men have held the presidency, and only four listed themselves as churchless.

In addition to Hayes, they were Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson. But Jefferson often attended Unitarian services, Lincoln went to a Presbyterian Church in Washington, and Johnson apparently shared his church-going with Methodists and Baptists.

Ten Presidents have been Episcopalians. Eight of the first 14 chief executives were Episcopalians, only 2 of the last 19.

There have been six Presbyterians, three Methodists, three Unitarians, two Baptists, two Dutch Reformed, and one each of Quakers, Congregationalists and Disciples of Christ.

In case it has passed unnoticed, a Baptist minister will be running for president alongside the Republican and Democratic nominees. He is the Rev. Rutherford L. Decker, candidate of the Prohibition party.

The Rev. Mr. Decker concedes his chances are slim. The Prohibition party polled only 41,937 of the more than 62 million votes cast in the 1956 election.

To Study Programs For Correctional Units at Workshop

ALBANY—Advances in treatment programs in both juvenile and adult correctional institutions will be studied in a variety of courses and workshops at the 11th annual Moran Institute on Delinquency and Crime at St. Lawrence University, Canton, during the week of July 17-22.

Among the more than 400 correctional workers participating in the institute will be staff members from the State training schools, private correctional institutions, State correctional institutions, and local and county jails and penitentiaries.

Area representatives planning to attend the institute are: From Eastern Correctional Institution, Napanoch—Superintendent Charles L. McKendrick, Sgt. Frank Harkin, Correction Officers Robert Duquette, Edward B. Knight and Donald Strouse and Noel Bonacci, guidance counselor.

From Wallkill Prison—Dr. Walter M. Wallace, warden; Lloyd E. Whipple, principal keeper; Sgt. Leif Lange; Correction Officers William C. Harms and Theron Murray, and Peter Gerard Murphy, guidance counselor.

Institutions for juvenile delinquents will be dealt with in two workshops. A. Alfred Cohen, superintendent of the State Training School for Boys at Warwick, will conduct one on "Developing a Therapeutic Community in the Training School." The other, concerned with "Understanding and Working with Groups in Institutions Caring for Juvenile Delinquents," will be led by Mrs. Muriel E. Jenkins, assistant superintendent, State Training School for Girls at Hudson.

Among the courses for personnel of the state correctional institutions will be a combined class and workshop on "Principles and Methods of Instruction" which will examine the laws of learning as applied to adult education. It will be conducted by John G. Lee and William A. Law, training supervisors for the State Department of Civil Service.

Jule Sugarman of the U. S. Bureau of Prisons will conduct an executive development seminar for selected personnel of the Department of Correction. In the seminar, which will deal with principles of correctional administration, he will have as discussion leaders Commissioner McGinnis; Dr. W. Cecil Johnston, director of Danmore State Hospital; McKendrick, superintendent of Eastern Correctional Institution at Napanoch; and Joseph P. Conboy, superintendent of Great Meadow Correctional Institution at Comstock.

City Delegates Attend Methodist Women's Conclave

The annual summer school for Woman's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild officers was held on the campus of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, this week.

Those attending from St. James Methodist Church WSCS include Mrs. C. P. Hunter, Mrs. Casper Gunther, Miss Mabel Cook and Mrs. Ralph Harper. Those attending from the WSG include the Misses Evelyn Thomas, Matilda Martin, Lucy Berryann, Bertha Waterman and Mrs. Hazel Van Wagenen.

In addition to training courses, study courses were offered in the fields of home missions, foreign missions, spiritual life and growth, and Christian social responsibility.

Faculty members represent all areas of the Methodist Church and the mission field.

Quarterly Withholding Returns Due on July 31

ALBANY—State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy today announced that 425,000 Employer Quarterly Withholding Returns (Form IT-2101) have been sent to New York State employers as reminders the second quarter withholding payments for April, May and June are due by July 31.

These forms are used by employers to report New York State personal income taxes withheld from employee wages and salaries. They are due and payable by employers in quarterly installments, April 30, July 31, October 31, 1960 and January 31, 1961.

New Art Studio Of Louis Tavelli On Maverick Road

Louis Tavelli, prominent Woodstock artist, is conducting a life-drawing class for beginners and advanced students in the Maverick Road studio situated in the old Haverick theatre. The studio makes use of the stage, the boards of which sprang many a young theatrical star to fame.

Life drawing classes are held on Tuesday and Thursday nights, from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. Tavelli's art teaching experience is extensive. An art teacher at the University of Michigan, Tavelli has been a resident of Woodstock for the past eight years.

Prior to his appointment with Michigan, he taught in the University of North Carolina School of Design. This year, however, Tavelli plans to live in Woodstock throughout the winter, commuting to New York for his teaching assignment at Cooper Union in painting and designing.

Original Zena Member

An active member of the Woodstock Artists Association, he was one of the original members of the Zena Gallery Group. He has exhibited in a number of New York City galleries, such as the Bertha Schaeffer Gallery and The Stable. He has had one-man shows at Hackett Gallery, Camino Gallery, and the Washington Irving Gallery. Recently his work was accorded a one-man show at the University of Michigan's Museum of Art.

Prior to his devotion to art, Tavelli was a professional musician, playing the viola in orchestral work. He studied extensively at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester. If one believes that art can give out the feeling of music, Tavelli's work achieves this in its tones and its rhythmic, upswinging strands of harmony in color.

A one-man show featuring Tavelli's work will run for two weeks at the Mari Gallery in Woodstock. The opening reception will be given on Friday afternoon, July 29.

The Maverick Road Art School invites both beginning and advanced students. Arrangements for entrance can be made by calling the artist at his Maverick studio.

Schimmerling About Vacations

"What will you do during the vacation?" I asked one of my pupils. She answered: "horseback riding, swimming, ball games, some dancing." So I explained: If a person because of illness would have to stay in bed for several weeks; then getting up, his legs would hardly carry him. "And the same would happen to your brain, if you don't train it regularly," I said to the girl. Besides, what is your schedule during one of your vacation days? Of the 24 hours of each day, spend 10 hours for sleep, an hour and a half for meals; do 6 outdoor work; but a healthy type of outdoor work, (details outlined by a doctor); spend one half hour for linking together these types of work (linking together is an excuse for fooling around).

Now we have arrived at a total of 18 hours which is 75 per cent of 24. Don't you think it would be wise to use the remaining one quarter of six hours for the benefit of your poorly neglected brain? Namely, 3 hours for passive brain work, i.e., working during which the brain receives: first of all, reading (the proper material, of course), listening to good music (I said good music, please) looking at fine paintings and other works of art, etc. The other 3 hours are to be used for active brain work: for example, writing down in your own way of expressing yourselves what you just had read before, all kinds of memorizing (numbers, poems, speeches, historical facts and dates, biographies of great personalities), mathematics, science solving quiz problems, performing and practicing music, studying of a foreign language, etc.

A Mistaken Theory

Letting youngsters do or encouraging them to do some work to make some extra money is, in most cases, the wrong thing to do. It would mean to take away their time from learning at an age in which the human brain is most receptive for learning. Whenever I asked my father to let me take a job to make some extra money, he said: "Never mind, money you make enough later if you learn a lot now; and the best time to learn is right now." How right was he. The only thing he permitted me to do was to teach, to help

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Legislation—A proposed hospital bill which would authorize the Veterans Administration to grant to veterans with non-service connected disabilities outpatient treatment either immediately before or after hospital treatment has been passed by Congress and set to the President for consideration. This legislation, if signed by the President into law, will be very significant to veterans, particularly to World War I veterans whose incidence of hospitalization appears to be steadily on the increase. In addition to the quick action taken by the Congress on this so-called hospital bill, two bills already approved by the U. S. House of Representatives have been reported by the Senate Finance Committee to the Senate. One bill would provide $40 additional monthly disability compensation for service-connected disabled veterans who are so seriously disabled as to be confined to their homes and considered housebound. The other bill reported by the Senate Finance Committee would permit Spanish-American War veterans entitled to the aid and attendance of another person to elect to receive pension at a higher rate applicable under recent laws which pertain to veterans of WW I, WW2 and the Korean Conflict. The bill which would permit WW 2 and Korean Emergency veterans to apply for National Service Life Insurance within one year after its enactment into law is now awaiting action in the House of Representatives. This legislation, which would reopen the NSLI program for such veterans who have permitted their NSLI policy to lapse, has already been passed by the Senate.

Bonus—Pennsylvania now recognizes certain WW II service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps as eligible time for the Pennsylvania State Bonus. Military personnel who were in the WAAC service and continued their service in the Women's Army Corps may be entitled to additional state bonus based on their WAAC service provided they entered active duty from Pennsylvania. Additional information may be obtained with the assistance of this office from the World War II Compensation Bureau, Department of Military Affairs, Harrisburg, Pa. The deadline to apply for this benefit is December 31, 1960.

Insurance—A disability income provision may be added to most GI insurance policies for a small additional premium. This total disability income provision pays a monthly income to an insured who holds it while he is disabled and unable to work. The monthly income payable under this provision is $1 for each $1000 of GI insurance in force to which the disability income provision is added. An insured who adds the disability income provision to a $10,000 policy would receive $100 a month disability benefit income beginning with the first day of the seventh month after the disability started. These payments are designed to protect the insured against long period of disability and once they are started they can continue for as long as the insured is disabled. Complete information and premium rates for this insurance may be obtained from this agency.

financial operation of the gallery upon the membership, in addition to the heavy work load which accompanies seasonal operation of the gallery in its service to the public.

At the same time, many who are engaged in art teaching, or who hold directorships in the major museums, believe that the amateur, or the student, does not profit from too early sharing of his exhibitions with professionals, when they exhibit work done in class. They believe student work should be shown in student organizations.

Other artists in the Association believe all artists, students and amateurs, should go through the formality of submitting their applications and work for the purpose of being juried by various executive committees. In this way they could participate in the gallery service and in the financial upkeep of the gallery in which they are privileged to exhibit.

This is one of the major issues now confronting the current executive committee for consideration. Opinions would be welcomed by Philip Held, chairman of the executive committee; especially if one is a member of the W.A.A.

Opinions Vary On Assessments For WAA Exhibits

A live issue has developed in recent membership and executive committee meetings of the Woodstock Artists Association, dealing with a problem of major importance to the members.

At the present time any and all artists, including active members of the organization, show in the various exhibitions, if successfully juried or chosen. These artists now include many summer students at the Art Students League and any artists from the Woodstock area who are favorably juried. No hanging fee is required from this type of exhibitor, nor active membership dues.

Many professional artists in the Association believe this present custom places the burden of

Fabric Shop Is Moving to New Location Uptown

Brenner's Mill End Shop will be moving in the near future to a new location at 52 Johns Street, opposite Mohican Market.

It is expected that the new shop will be ready for business next weekend with many special sale items offered. A full line of cotton, silk, drapery and slipcover fabrics will be available as well as new fall woollens.

Ruth and Samuel Brenner, owners and proprietors of the shop which was formerly at 72 Clinton Avenue, invite the public to come in and browse.

7,500 Cars Used Senate Parking Facility Uptown

More than 7,500 cars were parked free of charge under the park and shop plan of the uptown merchants in the Senate Parking area during the first six months of this year, it was announced today.

Herbert J. Kleitske, manager of the Paris Shop, Wall Street, and secretary of Senate Parking, said a record number of free parkers would use the uptown lot during July. He said the continued trend towards store-parking has been accelerated by the use of automatic ticket dispensing machines now in use on the lot situated next to the Old Senate House.

Shoppers may park free when they request stamps from the 40 stores participating in the program.

In a period from January through April, 4,500 cars were parked free of charge in the lot, and 3,000 more in May and June brought the total over 7,500.

Kleitske and Clyde Wonderly, vice president of the park and shop plan said they believed the program of store-parking could be successfully extended to other parking lots throughout the city. They pointed out that the national averages of park and shop plans showed a steady increase during the summer months through September.

Kleitske said the present trend indicates that the local park and shop plan will better the national averages in July.

Hearing Put Over Until Oct. 3 on Milk Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has postponed from Aug. 15 to Oct. 3 a public hearing to consider amendment of fluid milk prices in northeastern markets.

The hearing will be held in New York City.

The department said Friday the postponement had been asked by industry representatives in the various market areas of the northeast.

The subject of the hearing will be class 1 (fluid) milk prices under the federal order regulating milk-handling in these market areas: Boston, Springfield and Worcester, Mass.; Connecticut, southeastern New England (Rhode Island and part of Massachusetts); New York-New Jersey; Philadelphia, and Wilmington, Del.

SCALP SPECIALIST HERE TOMORROW WILL SHOW HOW TO SAVE HAIR AND PREVENT BALDNESS

Kingston, N. Y.—Sunday, July 17, at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston, N. Y., Staff Director M. E. Gray will give free hair and scalp consultation between 1 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. to hair worried men and women.

Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists, the oldest and largest organization of its kind makes regular visits to Kingston, N. Y. throughout the year to assure you of success in a minimum period of time. Erickson is now in its seventh year. Last year alone, over one-quarter million Erickson home scalp treatments were used.

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) doubt and (2) delay. Many balding people who are doing nothing to help themselves are justifying their condition with thinking like this: "I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or "I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it." That doesn't solve your problem. You are going to keep right on losing your hair until you are bald... unless you get your scalp in a healthy, hair-growing condition again.

HOPELESS CASES REFUSED If you are totally bald, there is nothing Erickson can do for you. Erickson or no other treatment known is of benefit to excessive hair loss due to male pattern baldness. Neither of the persons shown above suffered from male pattern baldness. Therefore, Erickson continues its policy of refusing all hopeless cases. Baldness is slow and gradual, even in the most common forms. The two most common causes are neglect and mistreatment, but the two worst enemies are skepticism and procrastination.

FREE CONSULTATION There is absolutely no charge or obligation of any kind for seeing the Erickson specialist for consultation. Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how easily and inexpensively you can save and thicken your hair at home. You will be told frankly and sincerely whether the Erickson Home Treatment can help, how long it will take, and the cost.

GUARANTEE SATISFACTION You will be given a written guarantee by the Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists for the length of time treatment is required on a pro-rated basis.

See Mr. M. E. Gray at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Sunday, July 17, between 1 and 8:30 p. m. only in Kingston, N. Y. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Consultations are free and given in private.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 16, 1960

JOHN F. KENNEDY

John Fitzgerald Kennedy at 43 has become one of the two men America will choose from in selecting a leader to guide its destiny through an era which finds this country's economic supremacy and its security gravely challenged.

There can be no more than passing joy in his heart for the great triumph he has gained in winning the Democratic presidential nomination. For should he win the election this fall, upon his slender shoulders would descend the heaviest burdens any free world leader ever has been asked to carry in time of peace.

We do not know whether the current agitations of Soviet Premier Khrushchev mean we are edging closer to war or simply represent a new "manic" phase in Russia's constant off-again-on-again strategy for dealing with the free nations.

But certain it is that the long-range prospect for us and for all free men is a severe, unending competition with Russian and Chinese communism for supremacy on this earth. If we lose we will not survive free.

As a possible inheritor of the burdens that accompany this immense peril, Kennedy could have his mettle tested to the full.

No one can dare say whether he would measure up to the incredible tasks ahead, any more than it can be predicted that Vice President Nixon, the clear Republican choice, would successfully meet the challenge if he should be elected.

Americans must pray that both men are equal to the high demands that could be put on them. When Nixon is in fact nominated, that will be the time to assess his makeup and performance. This is the moment to look at Kennedy.

His most careful biographer finds him brilliant, tough, cool, detached, possessed of great drive and will. Throughout his life, says this man, he has demonstrated high capacity for growth, ability to grasp essentials and to master detail.

Some men distrust his detachment. Yet it is possible it could serve America and the free world well in a time of explosive emotionalism.

Some find his coolness and his drive a calculating ambition, yet the man who reaches the White House really has only one thing left to calculate: how to be a good president.

Still, there can be no real advance verdict on how these qualities might be employed if Kennedy should win.

This much we know already: He is a master of politics.

Many observers believe the organization he put together to capture the nomination is the best in this century, superior even to that of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

Money helped, but it was not the key. Potential winners can always get money. Kennedy's success was in knowing what to do with money—and with men. The general appraisal is that his political judgment is of a high order.

The nation must hope that all his fundamental judgments—and Nixon's, too—are superior. For upon the judgments of one of these not too dissimilar young men may rest the future of free mankind.

IS IT A DEATH RAY?

A group of scientists recently developed a means of amplifying light to enormous intensity. This opens up numerous possibilities—greatly improved radio communications over inter-planetary distances, the increase of radio and television channels, detection of extremely distant stars, and so forth.

When this light amplification method was announced, however, one of the first questions asked was whether it could be used as a death ray. And that is an interesting, though not heartening, commentary on the kind of world we live in.

There is no escaping the fact that we

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
THE SECRETARY OF STATE

Nearly as important as the President will be the next Secretary of State. Upon his shoulders will fall the responsibility of finding an honorable road to dealing with the Soviet world. He will need to be knowledgeable, experienced, a competent administrator, capable of controlling his deskmen and also fighting off the opinionated Senators who seek to force upon the world their private views. This means that we shall have to have a man whom the nation respects.

If Richard Nixon is elected, it depends upon who runs for Vice President as to who the Secretary of State will be. The favorite for both the Vice Presidency and the Secretaryship of State is Henry Cabot Lodge. If Lodge runs as Vice President, he will, of course, not be appointed Secretary of State, although he would be the most competent Republican for it. In these circumstances, a strong effort will be made to divorce Thomas E. Dewey from an extremely lucrative law practice. Dewey could be relied upon not to be beguiled by the Kremlin. He would, however, not be as acceptable to Congress as Lodge would be.

In the event that neither Dewey nor Lodge should be available, Senator Styles Bridges may be asked to serve in this position. Before Governor Nelson D. Rockefeller became so obnoxious, his name was heard as a possibility but it is heard no more. The present incumbent, Christian Herter, would not be considered.

Should the Democrats be elected, it is likely that Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, or Senator Fulbright might be considered. It would be most logical for the Democrats to restore Dean Acheson to that position as his current views seem to be the most sound expressed by anyone in the Democratic Party. He adds to knowledge and experience wisdom which such a man as Adlai Stevenson does not seem to possess. In fact, the mere suggestion of making Adlai Stevenson Secretary of State frightens those who still hope to preserve the United States as a nation.

The difference between Stevenson and Acheson is that the former seems to learn nothing either by experience or from knowledge. Having adopted a doctrinaire position sometime before 1952, he cannot change no matter what the course of events does to his assumptions. He has no sense of timing. No matter what harm it may do to the United States, he utters words and assumes positions which can only give aid and comfort to the enemy. As a former State Department employee, he knows all about the spying that is done by Soviet Russia and for that matter, the spying that we do. His innocent demeanor about the U-2 was an absurdity. Whom did he think he was kidding?

Unfortunately when men are so ambitious that they believe their own publicity, they can do the nation as a whole great mischief. There can be little doubt that public statements by Stevenson and other Democrats encouraged Khrushchev, who cannot understand our form of government, to believe that it would be to his advantage not to continue negotiations with President Eisenhower, knowing that he will cease to be President in January.

Such a speech as Paul Butler delivered on the opening night of the Democratic Convention must have pleased Khrushchev. It gave one the feeling that Khrushchev was calling the shots and writing the platitudes.

The danger is that Khrushchev will believe that this country is really sharply divided and that a large part of the American people are so antagonistic to President Eisenhower that they are favorably disposed to the Kremlin. Surely a speech such as Paul Butler's will give courage to Castro and other Kremlin slaves in Latin America.

Senator Frank Church's speech was not much better in those sections which dealt with foreign policy. He, too, failed to recognize the delicacy of the moment; the danger of strengthening the enemy. Senator Church is an anti-Communist but unfortunately he tried to mix his anti-Communism with anti-Eisenhower and produced an explosive mishmash.

The Democrats need a Secretary of State who can think in terms of national interest and not how to get even with Republicans. In fact, during the next four years, it will not matter much whether the Secretary of State is a Republican or a Democrat, as long as he is patriotic and has a measure of common sense.

Musings on How to Make Vacation a Carefree Time

If your husband has decided to spend his vacation at home this year, here are a few things you should both remember:

Tips for the husband:
Remember that your weeks away from the job aren't going to be any vacation for your wife unless you help to make it so.

When you plan a family outing keep the plans as simple as possible so that your wife won't have to work harder than ever getting everything ready. (For instance, instead of suggesting that she prepare a picnic meal of fried chicken, etc.—you could pick up the fixings for a cook-out and treat her like a guest on the outing.)

If you want to sleep late every morning, get your own breakfast when you get up if your wife has already prepared one breakfast for herself and the children. (Cooking extra meals every day is hardly a vacation for any housewife.)

Don't sit back and expect to be waited on and picked up after. It will be like having an extra child under foot if all you do all day long is make clutter.)

Now tips for the wife:
Remember this is your husband's yearly vacation. Don't decide it would be a good time for him to paint the house, build bookshelves or install a sprinkling system. (Some wives can't bear to see a man sit down and relax and regard their husband's vacation as the perfect time for getting things fixed up around the house and yard.)

If your husband wants to get a babysitter for a day so that the two of you can get away for an outing, don't insist on taking the children along. (You can overdo this idea of togetherness.)

Try to relax your housekeeping routines enough so that the whole family has a period of unhurried, leisurely living.

have grown accustomed to thinking of science and engineering as the developers of terrible and complex weapons. Considering the changes in warfare that have come about since the turn of the century, it could not be otherwise.

Perhaps it is, therefore, only natural that when scientists unveil a light which can be focused with unmatched intensity someone should ask, "Could it be used as a death ray." Yet is it not a pity that such a question should come to mind about a discovery which may, instead, be a valuable tool for probing the universe?

Second in a Field of Two

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES, July 12 — Phil Regan, a low-ceiling night-club tenor and an apostate New York policeman, has risen to the office of social secretary to David J. McDonald, the president of the United Steelworkers. In this role, Mr. Regan put on an extra-inning ruckus at Dave Chasen's restaurant which made Perle Mesta's Mostest, of the Truman regime, look like a tomato-cake cookout by a bunch of unwashed huckle-stiffs down by the water tank and a whistle-stop on the M. K. & T.

Mr. Regan invited 1,000 guests, including George Meany, the president of the AFL-CIO, and, for a brief half hour, had as a special highlight of political circumstances, Senator Jack Kennedy, who does not drink intoxicants.

There were also 24 Los Angeles policemen and 15 deputy sheriffs, all accoutered with the normal weight of iron and ammunition. By an ironic turn of human relations and history, this time they were friends of such ilk as their professional forbears had hunted down at Homestead, Pa., and Ludlow, Colo. They were on orders to guard the dignity, the jewelry and the prerogatives of the Messrs. McDonald, Meany and so forth, and their ladies. In case of stalemate, they were to adjudicate delicate problems of precedent in traffic jams outside the tents.

It was a spectacle to start Andrew Carnegie and Governor Nelson Rockefeller's sainted grampaw spinning like bobbins in their shrouds. Those American Giants had waged mighty affrays against dam agitators demanding the revolutionary six-day week and that satanic invention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

A trailer truck carrying 25,000 pounds of meat overturned at the juncture of Route 212 and 32 near Sauerbier's.

Marvin Schild, 8, of New York was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for a head injury suffered during a horseshoe pitching game in the Town of Marbletown.

Headquarters of the city and county draft boards in the Millard building were due to open July 24.

visions than with any others.

Running short, he telegraphed Harold Ross, the editor of the New Yorker, who invested $3,000, which by unreliable but enchanting lore repaid Ross somewhere between $50,000 and $500,000. The range of tolerance between these figures is typical of Hollywood economics.

Mr. Chasen came from Brooklyn and therefore looks down on ruff-raff who take virtue to themselves because they were poor on Hester Street. It was no more fun being poor in Brownsville. In an early phase he played stooge for the late Joe Cook, a comedian notorious for the hygiene of his humor.

Chasen is about five feet nine and in those precocious days his job was to interrupt Joe Cook and elicit questions.

"What is your name?" "Dave Chasen."

"What do you do?"

"I interrupt Joe Cook."

"What does your father do?"

"He is on vacation."

"What does he do between vacations?"

"Nothing."

"Do you like puns?"

"Yes; puns and coffee."

Mr. Chasen always had plenty of nerve. Touring with Cook, especially in Selma, Mobile, Montgomery, and Macon, he subsisted in the uniform white-front, all-night Greek restaurants which sold two-bit T-bones, chili-con and chili-macaroni, at 15 cents a bowl, with crackers. Spareribs were six for a dime.

With the lift from Mr. Ross, Dave expanded his rescue mission for famished actors into an institution with 200 employees which has absorbed the original acorn and fertilized it with lore about W. C. Fields, Gene Fowler, John Barrymore, Jack Dempsey and Jimmy Walker.

The reason for President McDonald's party was simple. He just wanted a party. The bill would seem to have come to at least $10,000. Mr. Regan is a grandfather who still sings "Mother Machree" with terrible force. At Truman's 1949 inauguration the Democrats tapped him for the Star-Spangled Banner on a scaffold.

The anthem has never been the same.

Later, Regan escorted Mayor Kennedy of Jersey City to New York for discussions preliminary to visits by George Meany, Kennedy, and Lieut. Gov. Wicks, of New York, to Joe Fay at Sing Sing Prison. These amenities embarrassed Fay because Governor Tom Dewey gave him two years extra and sent him up to Dannemora Prison.

But Meany became the grand President of American labor and the Man to Reckon With at national conventions; Kenney continued to prosper and Wicks won re-election on his honest contention that the public government could not function without obedience to union bosses even in Sing Sing Prison.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

There is much talk now about a more modern Rondout Creek Bridge. Some even say that the present one was built for the horse and buggy days. Governor Dix of New York State signed the Cook Bill for the bridge April 6, 1912. The formal opening of the bridge and the luncheon at the Auditorium took place in November, 1921.

Those who may be late comers to Kingston, Esopus or other sections may not remember the Skillyput chain ferry which ran from Sleighsburg to Ferry Street, Kingston. That was considered a bottle-neck of Route 9W. In 1921 horse and buggy days were very much on their way out and the automobile was taking over. The Sleighsburg hill during winter months used to freeze and it was dangerous to travel down to or up from the Skillyput for cars, horses and men. I wonder how many folks remember walking up or down that hill to the ferry on a freezing day. It was a steep hill of glaring ice.

Remember holiday weekends when cars, not horse and buggies used to be lined up waiting for the Skillyput, sometimes as far as Abel Street. The Skillyput or Riverine could only take over some 6 or more at a time. Cars often waited several hours from Abel Street before they moved down to Ferry Street and down to the slip to the ferry and that was long before the Rondout Creek Bridge was built. Soon after the bridge was used for normal number of cars it was found that the entrance in Kingston was not convenient.

In 1921 the automobiles were narrow and high built, and tractor-trailers were perhaps not even on the drawing boards. At the time of the opening the Rondout Creek Bridge, it was considered the seventh longest or largest suspension bridge in the world. It happened after is of course history. What will happen in 40 years hence no doubt is not on the drawing board either. It will be interesting to see where the new Rondout Creek Bridge will be placed, no doubt from a high spot on each side of the Rondout Creek and in some way convenient to the Thruway.

The Rhinecliff-Kingston Bridge is certainly not in a convenient location for Kingstonians and those passing through Kingston. An out-of-towner needs an Indian guide to find it, yet it is a handsome bridge, and the picturesque scenery from it would have made Henry Hudson really appreciate his discovery. Perhaps in time with all the changes to take place in Kingston and Rondout it will be more convenient to most important areas on both sides of the river. Time will tell.

No doubt folks also remember the Big Ferry, or Transport which went from Ferry Street to Rhinecliff. That went on schedule and in time to meet various trains. On important holiday weekends like 4th of July, one also waited in lines of cars, all the way up Hasbrouck Avenue. No doubt much thought will be given to the new Rondout Creek Bridge and it will be placed very conveniently by wise men in such a location that everyone will be satisfied.

Shokan

SHOKAN — News of the death of James Frece, 23, in an auto accident at Hammond, Ind., July 8 was received with regret by Shokan residents, many of whom had come to know the young man since he came here as a boy to live with his stepfather and mother, Irving and Dorothy Weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Schultz, New York, are again at their summer home along the westerly side of the Ridge Road. Mr. Schultz is a high school teacher in the city.

Leonard Ruckert returned home Sunday after spending several days with relatives in Reading, Pa.

Mrs. Junius Harris, Gage Street, Kingston, was a recent caller in the village center.

Mrs. Bautista Nadal, 89, who died July 9 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Bennett, Poughkeepsie, was a former resident of Shokan, her farm home in the Coons District having been the one time John Weeks place which was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Petersen three years ago. Mrs. Nadal, a native of Spain, before her marriage was Carmen Fernandez. She had five children, one of whom, Raymond of Henry Street, Kingston, died several years ago.

Martin Christiansen, Ruby, called on local friends Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Christiansen have sold their house across from the Ruby post office and are making preparations to move to Danville, Va., where they have built a new home.

Sari D. Brodie and Mrs. Cecil Berney, sisters, of New York who have summer homes at Cold Springs and Port Chester, respectively, were callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Having a birthday, July 25, is Elizabeth Giles, Route 28, a native and lifelong resident of the Shokan area. She is one of six children born to Benjamin and Alida Eckert Giles.

Grand Slams in All Hands

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I will finish up this week's series on competitive slam bidding with my all-time favorite hand. The game was rubber bridge and I sat South. My partner was a good conservative player and West was a good spectacular player.

I opened one spade in third seat and West decided to slow play his lay down grand slam. He was sure that if he jumped right to seven hearts he would run into a defensive seven spade bid.

Hence his double and mere five and six heart bids. He fooled me completely. I looked at my two aces and doubled six hearts. Then West could not stand prosperity. He redoubled. North passed. I had doubled. I could get out of my own mess.

I went to six spades and West bid seven hearts. It was passed around to me and I realized that West had 13 red cards. I bid seven spades and West had to double.

He opened the king of diamonds. I ruffed with dummy's eight of trumps; led the four of spades and stuck in the six spot; ruffed a second diamond with the jack of trumps; finessed my last nine of spades; ruffed my last

A wonderful result and particularly so because West had fooled me completely in the early stages of the bidding.

Attorney General Halts Activities Of Brooklyn Firm

An insolvent Brooklyn brokerage house, alleged to have been a "typical boiler room" and its president who has pleaded guilty to grand larceny were barred permanently from the securities business in New York State in an order obtained Friday by Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The order, signed in Supreme Court, New York County by Judge Sidney A. Fine, names Security Adjustment Corporation of 16 Court Street, Brooklyn, and Allen C. Kaye-Martin, its president, of 210 East 58th Street, New York City. Also named in the order is Warren Maslen, its secretary-treasurer of 199 Main Street, White Plains. Both Kaye-Martin and Maslen consented to the order.

Security Adjustment Corporation, together with Kaye-Martin and Maslen, were temporarily barred from the securities business in an order obtained by Attorney General Lefkowitz on March 15, 1960.

According to the affidavit of Assistant Attorney General Albert J. Millus, which was filed in court at that time, after they gained control of Security Adjustment Corporation late in 1959, Kaye-Martin and Maslen "bought and sold securities using high pressure methods and 'typical boiler room' tactics."

The affidavit also stated that "as of January 29, 1960, Security Adjustment Corporation has had a capital deficit of $71,000 and was insolvent. The corporation continued to receive money for the sale and purchase of securities without disclosing its insolvency to investors."

widely debated in the 1960 Congress. Both appeared to be closed subjects when the legislators quit for the national convention July 3.

President Eisenhower already has signed into law the $39,996,608 defense appropriations bill. This total was 661 million dollars more than the President asked. The Senate voted an increase of about a billion dollars over his budget, but the increase was somewhat in the conference with the House.

It would be possible for Kennedy to offer his proposal for another big increase in military funds as an amendment to some other money bill.

But Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), long a critic of Eisenhower administration defense policies, abandoned his effort to win an increase such as Kennedy is proposing when the defense money bill was in the Missouri said it was obvious there was not enough support to get the funds he considered essential.

The situation is similar on farm legislation. Kennedy's biggest task on the floor next month probably will be to handle the minimum wage bill. He is chief sponsor of this and headed the subcommittee which originally drafted it.

This measure is ready for debate. As approved in the Labor Committee, it would raise the $1 an hour to $1.25 in three steps and bring an additional five million workers under coverage of the law.

But there is considerable opposition to it in the Senate from both Republicans and Democrats. And the House last month rejected a bill similar to Kennedy's, passing only a stripped-down version.

Belgians Ignore Ultimatum, Stay

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Belgian troops ignored Premier Patrice Lumumba's ultimatum to clear out of this former Belgian territory by 6 a.m. today. As the deadline passed, not one Belgian soldier had left the Congo. Troops of the U.N. Emergency Force, recruited from African nations to help restore order, were arriving by plane.

2 Europeans Killed (The Belgian Radio reported two Europeans were killed Friday night in clashes with Africans, but it gave no details on the extent of the clashes).

The Belgian Embassy was still functioning in Leopoldville, despite Lumumba's repeated declarations that his government has broken diplomatic relations with Brussels.

The Belgian government apparently is waiting out the situation. Officials feel that once things simmer down in the Congo and their troops are replaced by U.N. forces, relations will improve slowly.

Shouts to 'Declare War' Lumumba made an angry speech to the Chamber of Deputies Friday night and swept its members up in a current of nationalism. As the goateed premier spoke, there were shouts from members: "Declare war."

The African leader demanded that the Belgian government accept his severance of diplomatic relations and pull out all its troops.

The first U.N. contingent arrived Friday from Tunisia. After a peaceful beginning, one of their senior officers found himself in the middle of an impending riot and managed to restore order by using Congolese police.

Maj. Gen. Henry T. Alexander, British commander of Ghana's army, worked out a makeshift truce between the Belgian and Congolese forces, dividing the city between them.

Death Causes Near Riot The death of a Congolese boy touched off a near riot. His body was found in a dusty Leopoldville street, and the crowd charged that his Belgian employer had shot him when he came to collect his wages.

The crowd hacked at the locked door of the Belgian's store. Belgian troops moved in as the crowd grew to about 800, angry and shouting.

Then Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary here to advise the government, drove through the crowd and tried to calm it. He failed.

Alexander soon shifted to another store nearby. Congolese said a Portuguese businessman had killed one Congolese and wounded another with gunfire from his window.

The Negro police held off the crowd, which threw stones and demanded that police storm the building.

Soon a large police detachment arrived and hustled away the businessman in a van. Policemen held back the crowd.

State Police Seek Injured Youths Who Left Hospital

Two Kingston youths, reportedly involved in a fracas in a tavern in the Phenicia area, ran from Kingston Hospital early this morning as they awaited treatment for what appeared to be gunshot wounds.

The two were reported to be Peter Ferraro, 19, of 17 Liberty Street, and Vincent Bouck, 21, of Wilbur Avenue.

As the Freeman pieced the story together, the young men were taken to the office of Dr. Robert Quinn of Phenicia, treated and then driven to Kingston Hospital by Game Protector Henry Bernstein of Phenicia.

They were reportedly awaiting treatment when they slipped from the hospital and disappeared.

Kingston State Police said the two youths were still missing shortly before noon.

The Ferraro youth was believed to have received buckshot wounds of the arm. The other man reportedly had a shoulder injury of some kind. Details were not available late this morning.

Called Act of God NIGATA, Japan (AP)—A court has ruled that the death of 124 worshippers in the 1956 stampede at Iyaboko Shinto shrine was an act of God.

Four Shinto priests were acquitted Friday of accidental homicide charges. Government prosecutors accused the priests of negligence and had demanded they be fined $140 each.

The Old Stone Walls Talk

For one brief day Old Hurley came to life. One could see by the sparkling faces of the visitors how much they enjoyed what they saw. How those rustic old stone houses set their hearts aglow with admiration and wonder!

Behind those sturdy walls our ancestors proudly spoke to them. "See what we have done. These are the labors of our hands which the Lord did bless. We have worked hard and fought hard to bequeath to you this heritage. What are you doing to preserve it? Will the foundations you are building be as firm and lasting? Will you, too, guard with your very lives the things most precious to Man? If, indeed, you wish to bequeath this heritage of Truth, Beauty, Justice and Freedom, then you must build on firm foundations and make your walls strong and enduring. For only—

Through wisdom is a house built And by understanding is it established And by knowledge is the home filled With all precious and pleasant riches.

(Prov. Chap. 24) So echoed those walls with the wisdom of the ages.

To Spend Vacation On Speaking Tours

Two local girls, Margaret Ann Campbell and Bernice Parades are spending a month of their summer vacation working to aid Christian groups in Canton, Peoria, and Chicago, Ill., Denver, Colo., and Hammond, Ind.

Teenagers, working in groups of four, assist in the operation of church schools, speak before youth groups, and help in conducting religious surveys.

The two girls are among 58 young people who are currently traveling under the auspices of the United Presbyterian Church to serve Civil Central High in various parts of the nation.

Margaret Campbell is working in the Stapleton Community Christian Center in Denver and the Bethel Reformed Church in Chicago. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Campbell of 66 Prospect Street, a graduate of New Paltz Central High School. She completed her freshman year at Drew University, Madison, N. J.

Bernice Parades is working in the First Presbyterian Church in Canton, the First Presbyterian Church in Peoria, and the Riverside Park Reformed Church in Hammond. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Parades of Parades Lane, a graduate of New Paltz Central High School. She will start her second year at the College of Education here in September.

Both girls received a week of training for their service at the United Presbyterian Church at Muskingum College in New Concord, O., in June. Their work will be completed on July 23.

Jewelry, Ceramics Displayed at Bank

Alice Fischer of Prospect Street, has on display this week at the Savings Bank at 33 Main Street, a large and interesting exhibit of jewelry and other ceramic art objects.

Alice Fischer, who moved to New Paltz five years ago, received her art education at the Academy of Applied Arts in Vienna. Since she has worked as a designer in Paris and Berlin. She came to the United States in 1941. Miss Fischer designed textiles in New York City for four years, after which she went to Woodstock, where she was one of the founders of the Co-Operative, Inc., a non-profit organization, which sponsored work of high quality and good design.

She has shown her art work at various national exhibits and considers her jewelry small art objects rather than craft work. Her interest in ceramics started since she arrived in the states. She learned the ceramic techniques, seeing the artistic as well as the financial possibilities.

Area Notes

The old Riverside Hotel at the foot of Main Street, has been sold, and plans for its demolition are under way. The contents will be sold at public auction on Saturday, July 23.

This is one of the town's landmarks, and has been used as a hotel for a great many years. This property was also the site of the home of the first doctor in New Paltz: Dr. George Wurtz. The family came from Switzerland. Dr. Wurtz married Esther Hasbrouck, a daughter of one of the early settlers.

Miss Betty Price, who has been teaching in Germany, is spending a short vacation here. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Banks of 14 Mohonk Avenue, have sold their home to Rear Admiral Earle C. Hawk, (Ret.) and Mrs. Hawk.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bogart Van Rensselaer of 26 North Oakwood Terrace, recently celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary by an extended tour. They visited the following monuments and parks: Oak Creek Canyon, Ariz., Zion, Bryce, Dixie and Red Canyon in Utah; Devil's Tower, Jackson Hole, Grand Teton, and Yellowstone, Wyo., Custer Battlefield, Mont., The Badlands and Mount Rushmore, S. D. They also spent some time in Canada visiting at Montreal and Quebec.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dietrick of New Jersey are making extensive repairs to their summer home on the Canaan Road with the intention of making it their permanent residence.

Set Equalization Rates on 4 Towns In Ulster County

Revised state equalization rates based on 1959 assessment rolls have been established tentatively for four townships in Ulster County, according to a report by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment today.

Town of Denning with 18 and Town of Rosendale with 12 were assigned the same rates as last year.

Town of Kingston with 15, had a rate of 19 last year, and Town of Shandaken with 32, had 36 last year.

New rates are based on the average of market value of local real property on January 1, 1952 and January 1, 1957. Rates previously were based on the average of market values in 1949 and 1952.

A hearing on the proposed new rates will be held by the Equalization Board at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Aug. 2 at 155 Washington Avenue, Albany.

The rate is expressed as a percentage the assessed value bears to market value. When market values rise but assessments do not, the rates drop.

Open Bids Wednesday For New Paltz Project

Bid proposals on 10 projects, including one at New Paltz, will be opened at the State Office Building, Albany Wednesday at 2 p. m. by the State Department of Public Works.

The projects consist of construction, repairs and alterations to various state-owned facilities.

The work at New Paltz covers separate proposals on construction and heating work for service connections from Building 1 to Building 9, 26 and Pit 7, at the State University College of Education.

Complaints of Injuries

Hillis Edson, 47, of East Jewett complained of neck injuries Friday night after his car was involved in a collision on Broadway at Cedar Street, according to police. Authorities were told that Edson's 1960 car operated by Virginia Edson, 42, was stopped for a red traffic light on Broadway when it was struck by a 1960 suburban operated by Stanley Osevit, 775 East 175th Street, Bronx.

Speakers were Mrs. McAllister, Mrs. Radcliffe, Mrs. Beatrice Fox, state inside sentinel; Mrs. Tamm, state law committee and Miss Simmons, deputy of Molly Pitcher council.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Holberg, chairman. The next meeting will be Wednesday, August 3 when plans will be discussed for the state session in September. Mrs. M. Dunham was appointed chairman for the bond project for the meeting, September 7.

Move for Ashby Stay Due Before Bergan in Albany

An application for a stay in the Edwin W. Ashby perjury case was scheduled to be heard before presiding Justice Francis Bergan in Albany at 11 a. m. today. A show cause order returnable at 11 a. m. today was secured late Friday afternoon from Judge Bergan by Ashby's counsel, N. LeVan Haver.

A copy of the order was served on Special Assistant Attorney General Bernard Tompkins shortly after 3 p. m. Tompkins this morning said he had not been informed as to the grounds for the motion.

Ashby, a former Kingston supervisor and county commissioner of jurors, was found guilty of perjury by a jury under two counts, sentenced to terms of six months in the county jail. Sentences were to run concurrently. The Appellate Court set aside the verdict and granted a new trial. The Court of Appeals reversed this decision and reinstated the sentence.

It is understood an agreement had been reached under which Ashby was to be surrendered on Monday to begin execution of the sentence. The necessary legal matters from the Court of Appeals under which a bench warrant of arrest could be issued by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg were received Thursday, but under an agreement between counsel and Special Prosecutor Tompkins the sentence was not to be put into effect until Monday.

Meanwhile, the application for the stay is being made to Justice Bergan in the Appellate Division.

Summer-Winter Decor Needed For the Kitchen

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Summer is the time when a kitchen is likely to get on our nerves. The lovely warm walls that cheered us last winter can close in like an electric blanket on sweltering days unless we are equipped with air conditioner, fan or what have you.

The kitchen should be designed for that happy combination—warmth in winter, coolness in summer.

If it is time for a new paint job, consider multi-color paint that permits two or more colors to be applied at one time. There is a wide selection of color combinations, including varieties containing flecks of gold or silver that match counter tops and harmonize with the new formal look in floors.

The advantage of this paint in the kitchen is that the random color pattern makes dirt and small wall irregularities inconspicuous.

Use Accent Color

If multi-color coating contains more than two colors, one of the combination should be used as the accent color. When two colors make up the pattern a third color can be introduced for accent. The accent could be used to enamel the interiors of cabinets and drawers, as well as for curtains and other accessories. The latter should be a solid color which will highlight and not detract from the patterned walls.

White is the best choice for a low ceiling; it will make it seem higher. If the ceiling is a good height, a light tint of the accent color will look attractive and complement the over-all effect.

The polka dot effect is particularly attractive where only one wall is to be painted, and can brighten an entire room. The addition of curtains and other accessories that may be changed with the seasons will help the scheme.

If blue is the favorite color, it can be warmed up in the kitchen with the addition of yellow curtains and accessories and a pale yellow ceiling.

If one likes grayed blues, a multi-color paint of blue-gray, light gray and yellow may be combined with white and yellow accents to produce a summer-winter effect.

If a blue-green is desired, a multi-color paint of blue-green, aqua, pink and white may be flattered by a ceiling of light aqua, pink cabinet interiors, curtains and other accessories. Tables and chairs could be white.

Cabinets, counter tops and appliances now come in such a variety of combinations that any color scheme can be used in the kitchen. Gold and silver toned counter tops harmonize beautifully with the new elegant floor coverings.

Hardwood Plywood Has More Than 2,000 Uses

Hardwood plywood has well over 2,000 uses, both decorative and structural. Its more common uses are in the manufacture of furniture, pianos, television and radio cabinets, watercraft, railroad streamliners, trailers, store equipment, elevator cabs and interior wall paneling for homes and office buildings.

Rules to Follow When Building Retaining Wall

By MR. FIX
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There's a low retaining wall along one edge of my yard, about 30 feet long and 6 inches high. It isn't mortared and it does not have a base that goes below the frost line.

But then, it doesn't have to hold back much dirt, and with a fence running along the top it's a spot on which no one ever walks.

While it defies the rules of building retaining walls it serves the right functions—eliminates a slope on which it would be tough to grow anything, and prevents soil erosion onto my neighbor's yard. And it doesn't look half bad. Low growing perennials decorate it and hold it together.

There are some rules for building retaining walls—rules that you should follow if it's much of a wall you intend to build or much of a slope you intend to cut down. With a sound wall you can make room for paths and play areas with the flat area behind the wall.

You can make the wall either dry or mortared. Materials can be blocks, bricks or stones—whatever fits the landscape and your pocketbook.

Start the wall below ground, below the frost line. This will prevent freezing ground from lifting the wall. So get the footing below the frost depth. This will vary in different parts of the country but isn't likely to run more than two feet.

Make the base the widest part of the wall—at least 5 or 6 inches wider than the top of the wall. The outside of the wall should tilt in slightly—one inch per foot on a mortared wall, two inches per foot on a dry wall. In addition the entire wall, not just the outer face, is inclined when its construction is dry.

Generally speaking, it's wise to use mortar if the ground continues to slope from the top of the wall.

Backfill at least half the wall height with gravel or other coarse material. If the drainage problem is at all severe lay a row of drain tiles in back of the wall. In either event provide holes at the lower ground level for water to run through.

If the wall is built dry, flat stones are stacked and keyed together so they don't tumble. No mortar is used.

If the wall is much more than four feet high, figure on a poured-concrete job—out of the do-it-yourself class.

If it's only a foot or so, forget the excavation and place flat flagstones on the slope.

A low slope can be treated with a rock garden as well.

A long gradual slope can be planted with a low-growing ground cover.

Whatever you choose you're less likely to have a washout next spring.

New Ranch-Type Home Lets You Use Modern Materials

Imagine yourself living in this handsome home, "The Ellinwood." You'd have a home built in contemporary ranch style the pride of your neighborhood.

You'd have the opportunity to use modern materials because they are perfectly suitable for this kind of home.

You'd have plenty of space for living and playing.

This newest plan by Associated Architects makes use of a room arrangement that gives you a maximum of privacy. With the living room at the rear, there is virtually complete freedom from street noises and freedom from the glances of people as they walk or drive by. One living room wall, almost entirely of glass, enables you to make the most of the view to the rear. A fireplace set in another wall invites you to have a modern furniture setting.

Much has been said and written about the virtues of center halls. Here, in "The Ellinwood," the center hall really works to keep foot traffic where it belongs. There is a foyer just inside the front door leading to the kitchen and living room, and then to the bedroom hall, making a well-defined separation of the sleeping quarters and the living area.

Let's glance into these bedrooms. Two have corner windows and all three come with large wardrobes and space-saving sliding doors. The fully-equipped bath is equally accessible from the bedrooms, its usefulness increased by the addition of a built-in vanity and a separate shower. There is a tub, of course.

A separate lavatory, conveniently located near the kitchen, is back-to-back with the bath. This avoids long runs of pipe and consequently adds to economy.

Because this kitchen faces the front of the house, I am sure that the homemaker will find food preparation is much easier. She has a view of the street or road, and can keep an eye on visitors as they approach the front and kitchen doors. A doorway at the rear of the kitchen makes it simple to serve directly to the dining area, which, by the way, takes full advantage of the view through the living room windows. You might even like to keep your washer and dryer in the kitchen.

Investments Toward Retirement Discussed

By Roger E. Spear

Q "I am 60 years of age, working steady but have no pension except Social Security. I am thinking of buying Southern Pacific and California Packing. Is this advisable or would you pick something else?"—F. O.

A You sound like a man who has several years of useful work ahead of him before retirement. I would say that what you need are stocks that appear to have a good chance to appreciate in price through growth over the next decade, so that your retirement will be cushioned. California Packing would qualify for this purpose, but I don't believe that Southern Pacific, or any other rail stock, would. Because of excessive regulation, multiple taxation and keen competition from other forms of transport, I can see little prospect for growth for Southern Pacific. I believe the road is well managed and the income is secure but I would prefer to see you in a situation with more dynamic possibilities. I mentioned here recently First Charter Financial and I believe this stock would fill the bill for you. First Charter controls a number of savings and loan associations in California and growth can be substantial here through build-up of reserves of the subsidiary banks.

Q "I bought Fruehauf Trailer at 37 and have watched it go down to 25. Shall I sell and buy something else? I am a single middle-aged woman with nobody who can help me."—B. S.

A Fruehauf is a stock which is very sensitive to changes in business conditions. It is not the type of issue that a person like yourself should hold and I see no likelihood of early recovery. Your situation is rather a lonely one and I don't believe you should be subjected to continual worry about your investment. I would sell and buy California Electric, a good public utility at around the same price level.

O'Neill Duo

NEW YORK (AP)—A double bill of Eugene O'Neill plays, "Hughie" and "The Emperor Jones," are being planned by director Jose Quintero for Broadway openings this fall. "The Emperor Jones" is a familiar classic, but "Hughie" is rarely seen.

Decapitation was widely practiced by Christians and Moslems alike during the Crusades.

Crawl Space For Ventilation

Anyone who has ventured even a few feet into a cave during hot summer weather has witnessed plain every day condensation—moisture from the hot outside air turned into actual water on the walls, floor and ceiling of the cave just inside the entrance. The same thing often happens in an unventilated crawl space beneath a house—moisture in the warm air that seeps in through walls and the flooring above it condenses into water. This, plus moisture evaporating from the crawl space floor, often results in closed areas above the crawl space, such as closets, becoming "clammy" and causing mildew to articles stored in them.

Ventilation of the crawl space usually will cure the trouble quickly. Ventilators are manufactured plain or with louvers, positioned to block even wind-driven snow and rain.

One UAW Local Ratifies Pact, Other Tentative

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—One of two United Auto Worker locals has ratified a new contract with Bell Aerosystems Co., providing for increased pension benefits and new union jurisdiction.

Members of local 501 approved the pact Friday after their representatives and those of local 516 reached a tentative agreement with Bell. Local 516 is expected to ratify the contract in two weeks. About 700 workers would be covered in all.

The agreement capped several weeks of talks, during which local members staged several one-day strikes. Federal mediators aided in the settlement.

The pension agreement rests the formula for computing monthly retirement pay at $2.25 for each year of accredited service, a 50-cent increase in the scale. It expires in 1963.

The company also granted local 501 jurisdiction over three machine shops previously staffed by 32 non-union technicians.

No wage increases were announced. The union's contract demands were not made known.

Bell Aerosystems is the former Niagara Frontier Division of Bell Aircraft.

June Farm Milk Price Set $3.72

NEW YORK — Dairy farmers in the New York-New Jersey milkshed will receive a uniform farm price of $3.72 per hundred-weight (46.5 quarts) for milk delivered to pool plants in June, Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator announced today.

The May farm price was $3.64; in June, 1959, the farm price was $3.75 per hundredweight.

The producer butterfat differential for June was set at 5.6 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 standard.

Both receipts farm producers and consumption of fluid milk in June increased slightly over a year ago, Dr. Blanford said.

June receipts of 1,017,394,583 pounds, totaled 7,784,672 pounds more than last year when 1,009,609,911 pounds were delivered.

This was an increase of .77 per cent. June fluid milk sales amounted to 449,316,825 pounds, an increase of 489,915 pounds or .11 per cent over June, 1959, sales.

Fluid milk sales accounted for 44.16 per cent of the June pool, compared to 44.45 per cent last year.

Deliveries per day per dairy averaged 686 pounds, 17 pounds per day higher than in June, 1959, when the average was 669 pounds. The number of producers participating in the pool dropped 878, from 50,338 in June, 1959, to 49,460 this year.

Reports from 440 handlers were used in computing the June, 1959, pool, compared to 419 this year. This was 21 fewer handlers.

The farm value of the June production, exclusive of the various differentials, paid to dairy farmers, amounted to $38,844,322.61, the administrator said.

The uniform farm price of $3.72 per hundredweight will be paid for milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat and received at plants 201-210 miles from New York City.

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty high school girl from Buffalo was all at sea today, thanks to her prize-winning essay on "How the American Merchant Marine contributes to the prosperity of the United States."

Phyllis M. Majka, 16, won a free Mediterranean cruise in an annual contest sponsored by American Export Lines, Inc., with the Propeller Club of the United States.

Phyllis, a student at Bishop Colton High School in Buffalo, sailed Friday on the liner Atlantic accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John Majka.

Lost Leg That Of Dutchess Man Who Was Suicide

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A blood-stained artificial leg found in a field in Columbia County belonged to a man who killed himself last month in Dutchess County.

The Albany Times-Union said today the ownership of the limb was traced through the serial number to the manufacturer and then to a Dutchess County dealer. The newspaper said the owner was Andrea Gallinari, 80, of Pine Plains, who shot himself to death June 26.

State Police said the bloodstains probably were due to the shooting. There still was no answer to the question of how the limb ended up in a field near Ancramdale, Columbia County. Troopers speculated that someone may have discarded it.

BOWLING SLOGAN—Mayor Edwin F. Radel presents to Nell Glennon, President of the Kingston Women's Bowling Assn., the first print of the new slogan to be used by all city offices.

City Offices to Use New Slogan In Honor of WIBC Tourney

A new slogan, to be used by all city offices on their mail in connection with a means of advertising and promoting the fact that Kingston will be the New York State Women's Bowling Assn. tourney in 1962, was presented to Nell Glennon, president of the Kingston Women's Bowling Assn. Thursday.

The presentation was made by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and is possible through the use of the Pitney-Bowes postal machine by using a new mail advertising imprint.

Designed by the mayor, the slogan shows the outline of the state of New York on the right, with a star for the city of Kingston. The word "Kingston" is printed on an arrow pointing to the star.

The legend in bold letters on the left half reads, "Kingston in 1962." State Women's Bowling tournament.

Along the right hand edge running along the north-south border of the state replica is KWBA, also in bold lettering to signify the local women's bowling group as the 1962 sponsors of this event.

Mayor Radel said this is a very important function for the city and will attract over 15,000 bowlers and visitors during the course of the competition.

Blame It On Frit Fly

NEW YORK (NEA)—If your golf game isn't up to snuff, here something to blame it on—the frit fly.

Growing in numbers in the Northeast and other sections of the country, the frit fly, also called the Oscinella frit, was first found on well fertilized Merion bluegrass turf. It has since been found on putting green, tee and fairway turf.

If you want to find out if your course has been attacked by the pests, drop a white ball on the green. The flies are attracted to the color white and will swarm over the ball.

It wouldn't be so bad if the fly would stay around the white ball but for the white-haired members of the club, it can prove quite bothersome.

Claims Glider Mark

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet woman glider pilot today claimed a world record by flying her single seater glider 43.9 miles an hour. The Soviet news agency Tass said Anna Samasodova made the flight Friday at Semakovo, near Moscow. The agency said she flew 6.21 miles an hour faster than the women's glider speed record set in 1957 by a Polish pilot.

The Weather

SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1960
Sun rises at 4:33 a. m.; sun sets at 7:30 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather: Mostly fair.

The Temperature
The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 60 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 79 degrees.

GENERALLY FAIR..

Lower Hudson Valley — Mostly fair weather with pleasant temperatures over weekend except chance of scattered showers Sunday afternoon or night. High day time temperatures in 70s or lower 80s. Low tonight in upper 40s and 50s. Winds variable, mostly westerly, under 15. Outlook Monday partly cloudy with moderate temperatures.

Western New York, Northern Finger Lakes, East of Lake Ontario, and Southern Finger Lakes — Mostly sunny and warm today. High near 80. Some cloudiness tonight. Low in 50s. Sunshine and a few cloudy intervals Sunday with chance of a thunder shower in the area. Southwest winds, 10-20. Outlook for Monday mostly fair with moderate temperatures.

Northeastern New York — Fair with pleasant temperatures and humidity today. High in 70s. Becoming partly cloudy and not quite so cool tonight. Low in 50s. Sunday partly cloudy and mild with some chance of scattered showers. High in 70s. Winds variable, mostly westerly, 10-20. Outlook for Monday partly cloudy and moderate temperatures.

Northeast Is Due For Cooler Weather

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said Friday its 30-day outlook for mid-July to mid-August calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals in the Northeast, the south Plains and the Pacific Northwest.

The bureau added: "Above normal averages are predicted for the Rocky Mountain states, the northern Plains and the Gulf Coast. In the remainder of the country temperatures should not depart much from normal." "Rainfall is expected to exceed normal in the north Atlantic states, the Southeast, the extreme Northwest, and the southern Plains. Subnormal amounts are anticipated in the Midwest and far Southwest. In areas not specified, precipitation should be near normal."

Farmer Convicted Of Bank Robbery

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Paul J. McCarthy, a dairy farmer from Elmira, N.Y., has been convicted of robbing $2,219 from the First National Bank of East Smithfield, a U.S. District Court jury convicted McCarthy Friday. Judge John W. Murphy delayed sentencing, pending an investigation of McCarthy's background and record.

The conviction carries a maximum sentence of a $10,000 fine and 25 years in prison on each count of a two-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury March 8.

McCarthy, 29, was accused of entering the bank March 26, 1959, with a bandana tied across his face and a sawed-off shotgun in his hands. The prosecution said he forced three employees to put the money in a laundry bag. McCarthy escaped in an automobile he had borrowed the day of the robbery.

Couple Asphyxiated

MAYFIELD, N. Y. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sawyer were asphyxiated early today in a fire at their home off Sacandaga Reservoir, near this Fulton County community.

Sheriff's deputies and firemen recovered the bodies of Sawyer, 65, and his wife Margaret, 58. A coroner said they had asphyxiated. Firemen said the fire started in the motor of an electric refrigerator.

Cohoes Man Killed

NEW RUSSIA, N.Y. (AP) — Omar J. Malo, 38, of Cohoes, was killed Friday in the head-on collision of his automobile and a tractor-trailer on Route 9 south of this Essex County community.

Uncertainties

of July totaled 107,600 cars, 1.3 per cent ahead of last year.

Steel output snapped back from the low holiday week level but the industry doesn't look for any further progress until August and perhaps later. Production was estimated at 53.1 per cent of capacity, up from 42.2 a week earlier. Stock sales on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to 12,996,536 shares compared with 11,816,430 last week and 15,557,890 a year ago. Bond sales were $23,542,000 par value compared with $20,348,500 last week and $25,062,200 a year ago.

May Ease Credit
The ailing homebuilding industry got two shots in the arm during the week. President Eisenhower signed a bill extending two housing assistance programs which guarantee G.I. loans and some direct loans. The Federal Housing Administration permitted individual investors to buy government-backed home mortgages. This was expected to ease credit and stimulate building.

The President also signed a bill authorizing federal highway expenditures at a rate of $25 million dollars a year in fiscal 1962 and 1963. States would match these funds equally.

Employment rose in June to a record 68,600,000, the Labor Department reported. The previous high was 67,600,000 in July 1959. Unemployment increased, too, as 2,200,000 youngsters just out of school were added to the rolls. The total idle reached 4,400,000, up 964,000 from May.

The Commerce Department announced that profits of corporations before taxes showed a sharp gain the first quarter but indicated that second quarter results won't be as impressive. First quarter profits ran at an adjusted annual rate of $48,800,000,000, a gain of five per cent over 1959. The over-all level of industrial production dipped slightly in June as durable goods producers reduced inventories.

Retail trade continued to exceed last year with gains up to five per cent for the week.

Briefly Around

Briefly around the business scene: Ten thousand employees of Monsanto Chemical Co. have taken options to buy 433,000 shares of the company's stock.

Japan shipped 27,671 bicycles to the United States in the first five months of this year, 1,847 in the 1959 period. Boeing Airplane Co. received a 247-million-dollar Air Force contract for research and development of the solid-fuel ballistic missile. Radio Corp. of America developed an electronic device which produces electricity directly from heat provided by ordinary fuels such as gasoline and natural gas.

Mahoney, Carlino

planned to spend the weekend in Los Angeles. His wife and two sons accompanied him here.

State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast was handling the initial phase of the campaign strategy. He was in firm control of the arrangements as a result of a Kennedy pledge to deal only with the regular party organization in New York. This blocked off any possibility that an insurgent group that has been fighting the organization would set up independent committees to work with Kennedy.

Plan Priority Areas
Prendergast said the party leaders would make up a priority list of areas in which the party felt it had the best chance of winning legislative seats.

These, he said, will include Mahoney's Buffalo district and Carlino's home Nassau County.

Visits of Kennedy, who has promised to campaign extensively in New York State, will be concentrated in high-priority areas, such as Buffalo and Nassau.

Johnson also will be invited to campaign throughout New York, Prendergast reported.

It isn't being discussed officially, but there is a strong religious issue involved in the plan to topple Mahoney and Carlino.

Both are Roman Catholics from districts with heavy Catholic populations that include many Republicans.

Kennedy is also a Catholic. Party leaders believe he will win support from many Catholic voters that have supported Mahoney and Carlino.

In voting for Kennedy, the Democrats hope, many of those voters will support other Democrats on the ticket, including legislative candidates.

Cuba Is Obvious

Target at Special

OAS Session Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba today faced a crossfire from its Western Hemisphere neighbors on its increasingly close ties with the Soviet Union.

The 21-nation Council of the Organization of American States scheduled an unusual Saturday session on a Peruvian call for a meeting of OAS foreign ministers to consider threats affecting hemispheric solidarity, the Inter-American system and democratic principles.

Although Cuba was not specifically named in the Peruvian bid, the leftwing regime of Fidel Castro loomed as the obvious target of Latin-American fears of Soviet intervention in the Western Hemisphere.

Rosendale Votes

8 Raincoats for

Active Hose No. 1

At the July meeting of the village board of the village of Rosendale a request was submitted from Active Hose Company No. 1, requesting 12 raincoats as well as several other items.

Trustee DeFleis approved ordering eight raincoats which were considered sufficient and Mayor John W. Vaughn affirmed this decision. Other items on the list will be considered as soon as estimates are received.

It was announced that garbage pick-up had commenced on July 1 on Campbell Street.

George Mollenhauer, Joseph Bianco and Joseph Reid reported for the Flood Control Committee. A resolution was presented to be adopted by the village board on flood control plans for the Rondout creek. Much discussion followed. The village board agreed to wait for further information before signing same and plan to hold a public hearing on Thursday, July 28, at 8 p. m. at the village halls.

A communication was received from the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association in reference to a contribution for the 25th anniversary journal. The board unanimously approved a donation of $20 for a special Silver Page.

Kennedy Vows

today, lock, stock and barrel, the positions of power in the Democratic party.

He tabbed Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington as his choice for chairman of the Democratic National Committee to succeed retiring Paul M. Butler. Jackson said he was studying the question of whether he could accept and carry out his Senate duties.

41 Committee Changes

Democratic state chairman, summoned to a meeting, were amazed to have thrust in their hands carefully prepared brochures on how to conduct the campaign in the states. Each contained a county-by-county breakdown of voting registrations and other detailed information.

The Democratic National Committee, which for four years had been an organization without a specific candidate, belonged also to Kennedy.

With the rolls still incomplete, the committee roster showed 41 changes in membership. Many of the departing members were forced out in state committee voting when they declined to come out publicly for Kennedy in advance of the convention.

There was no doubt that Kennedy's camp had catalogued every member. Those among the carryovers who had been reluctant to see the Kennedy camp senator nominated could expect to be bypassed in the campaign.

Ruthless Efficiency
It had been years since the Democrats, used to a catch-all campaign, had encountered anything like the ruthless efficiency which marked the beginning of the Kennedy regime.

Where nominees in the past have been content to spend most of the summer putting together a campaign organization, Kennedy started the operation within a matter of hours after he received the nomination.

Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the committee, submitted her resignation. It was reported she might be succeeded by Margaret Price of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Brother Robert Kennedy will be his campaign manager, in fact if not by title. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff and State Chairman John M. Bailey of Connecticut will have prominent roles as will Raskin of Chicago, a worker in the presidential primary vineyards.

2 Killed in Crash

VICTOR, N. Y. (AP)—Two persons were killed today when the automobile in which they were riding left the road and overturned near this village 15 miles southeast of Rochester.

They were Clarence W. Tooley, 22, of nearby Holcomb and Lorraine Woodward, 21, of Canandaigua.

Two others in the car were injured, neither seriously.

Crises Punctuate Recreation

Trouble Again Marks Ike's Stay in Newport

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower's third summer vacation in this seaside resort area is taking on the same pattern as the other two. International or domestic crises keep punctuating his recreation.

Just as in 1957 and 1958, Eisenhower's current stay, which began July 7, has been marked by troubles which follow a president everywhere. Nevertheless, Eisenhower has been able to golf or fish every day but one, when it rained.

Things Pop Fast
Eisenhower scarcely had unpacked this time on arrival from Washington when things started popping. During the next few days:

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev pledged full support to Cuba's Castro regime in its bitter quarrel with the United States, and he threatened to hit America with Soviet rockets if the United States dared intervene in Cuba.

In reply, Eisenhower warned that this country would tolerate a government in Cuba dominated by international communism.

Seeking to win support of Latin-American nations for the toughening of U. S. policy on Cuba, the President and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter met here and announced a goodwill aid program for Latin America.

The Soviet Union announced it had shot down a U. S. Air Force reconnaissance plane, contended it had violated Soviet frontiers, and said two captured crew members had confessed the plane was on a spy mission.

Eisenhower denied the espionage charge and said the aircraft had been brought down over international waters.

Bloody rioting broke out in the newly independent Congo Republic and the Soviet Union accused the United States of trying to undermine Congo freedom.

The United States earlier had rejected a Congo appeal for American troops to restore order and backed dispatch of a United Nations unit.

Meets Herter Tuesday
Cuba took its quarrel with the United States to the U. N. Security Council, and this country welcomed a chance to outline Eisenhower's charges of Castro regime hostility toward the United States. The hearing before the council is scheduled to start Monday.

The summer White House announced Friday that Eisenhower and Herter will meet in Newport Tuesday for a new review of world problems — their second since the President arrived.

In 1957 in Newport, the President's vacation activities — golf and fishing — were interrupted by the school integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark. Eventually he ordered federal troops into the city to deal with the situation.

In 1958 during Eisenhower's stay trouble with Red China flared in the Far East, and on the domestic front there was the crisis which led to the resignation of Eisenhower's chief aide, Sherman Adams.

Radel, Officials
the condition, and he was quick to recognize the fact that Kingston has already taken several voluntary steps of some proportion along the improvement lines. The supervisor referred to the recent major projects undertaken by the city last year to install a sanitary sewage collection system in the Ponckhockie area and the one presently under way in connecting a major portion of the city's system into the sewage treatment plant with the installation of a diversion chamber at Hasbrouck Avenue and Mill Street.

It was noted at the meeting that both are projects of considerable magnitude and expense and the latter one, while it is already getting under way, could still qualify for federal aid under the plan proposed.

Mayor Radel said that an order by the State of New York Water Pollution Commission directed all cities along the Hudson River to install collection sewers and treatment plants in the year 1938. He said further it is very evident that the City of Kingston is one of the very few cities or towns along the Hudson that has moved swiftly along on this program and has accomplished the greatest amount of progress without further pressure from the State Department.

Dutchess Woman Stabbed Over Eye

A Poughkeepsie woman was taken to Vassar Hospital early this morning with wounds suffered when she was stabbed with a knife in front of Marie's Tavern on Route 9W in Highland.

Highland state police reported that the woman, Geneva Comante, 27, was stabbed over the left eye.

Her condition was reported as fair by hospital authorities. Sgt. Linn Baker, BCI, of the Highland barracks, is investigating.

Closing Talks

Best at L.A.

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democrats wound up their five-day extravaganza Friday night with an all-star show. Happily for TV viewers, it was brief.

Of course, brevity is relative in political conventions. But the fact that eight top-flight politicians, including the two nominees, could get their speeches over in about 90 minutes is a minor miracle.

It was quite a treat to watch the big names of the party sitting together in a display of outward unity. Their speeches were the best of the five-day talkathon, mainly because they spoke personally and with some humor. And now a word for the announcer.

Collins Shines
Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida was an excellent choice for convention chairman. He is handsome and imposing on TV and his voice and sentiments hit the right note.

He was also fast with ad libs. Hovering aircraft were bothering the crowd and speakers at the Coliseum. Friday night (they didn't interfere with TV sound, however.) Collins took note of the planes and compared them to the opposition:

"They're going around and around and beating the air, but they're getting nowhere."

Adlai E. Stevenson also used the night's embarrassing moment for a quip. The TV cameras caught his dismay as he was introduced and an Indian garbed drill team marched across the field because of a misuse. When the drums were finally silenced by Collins, Stevenson said, "I know the helicopter was a Republican, but I'm not sure about the Indians."

CBS, doing some crowing about its exclusive shots of Kennedy and his three sisters riding through Los Angeles streets to the Coliseum. Walter Cronkite noted the Kennedy girls holding their hairdos in the speeding convertible, and Ed Murrow pointed out Jack's finger-tapping on the dashboard.

Back to Reunions
They were less precise about the Coliseum crowd. They said it was a disappointing 35,000. But long shots showed a bigger house than attends the UCLA and USC football games. Later, the pair upgraded the crowd to 60,000 by police estimates.

Anyway, TV fans can now go back to watching summer reunions until the GOP does a week from Monday. See you then.

IAM Will Return Monday, Vote Pact

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Members of the International Assn. of Machinists Friday night voted to end a strike against Lockheed's missile installations.

Approximately 5,800 members of the machinists union voted by a 3-2 margin to accept Lockheed's latest contract proposal.

Strikers will go back to work Monday.

The walkout began June 26 at Lockheed Missiles and Space Division installations at Van Nuys, Sunnyvale, Santa Cruz and Vandenberg Air Force Base, all in California.

The new contract covers approximately 10,500 hourly employees at these installations and in Hawaii and at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M. The Hawaii and Holloman employees did not walk out.

The new contract provides for a 4-cent-an-hour increase this year, retroactive to June 13, and a 3-cent-an-hour increase next year.

Average wage before the strike was $2.66 per hour.

Lockheed makes the Navy's Polaris submarine missile and is prime contractor for the Discoverer, Samos and Midas satellite systems.

Youth on Probation After Abusive Talk
A 19-year-old Kingston youth today was placed on probation to his father, after he pleaded guilty before City Judge Aaron E. Klein to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Robert Hoffman, of 68 German Street, was arrested early today by Patrolmen James Amato and Richard Dempsey at the Kingston Hospital parking lot. Police said the defendant became abusive to the patrolmen.

In court today, Hoffman appeared with his father and at the suggestion of Judge Klein, the defendant made a "public apology" for the incident. Hoffman will be on probation to his father for six months. His father told the court that if the defendant is not obedient during the probationary period he will inform the court.

Body Is Recovered
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A body recovered from the lower Niagara River Friday was identified by relatives early today as that of Albert Palmer, 17, of Niagara Falls. The youth was drowned June 25.

Troy Woman Dies
TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Betsy Hale, 75, was drowned Friday in the Hudson River. Police recovered her body after she had been reported missing from her home here earlier in the day.

Wayne Man Killed
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Anthony Molino, 32, of Ontario, Wayne County, was injured fatally Friday night when his car rammed a parked truck and careened into a cement wall along Route 104 in nearby Webster.

St. Lawrence Gas Objects to Rival's Bid for Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The St. Lawrence Gas Co. of Ogdensburg, N.Y., has told the Federal Power Commission it objects to a rival firm's proposal for a new hearing on applications to supply natural gas to communities in northern New York.

A Power Commission examiner has recommended that St. Lawrence Gas, a subsidiary of Consumers Gas Co. of Toronto, be allowed to import gas from Canada for sale in the Ogdensburg-Massena area.

The examiner, Howell Purdie, also suggested that the commission reject an application of New York State Natural Gas Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., to serve the same area. New York State Natural proposed to sell the gas to the Niagara Power Corp. of Syracuse, N.Y., for re-sale in the New York communities.

Attorneys for New York State

Natural took exception to Purdie's recommendation July 1. This automatically sent the case to the full commission for a decision.

The Pittsburgh firm petitioned for a new hearing should the commission reject its application. Niagara Mohawk also asked for another hearing.

St. Lawrence Gas' attorneys said Friday "the purpose of petitions to reopen—as well as its consequences if granted—is delay, pure and simple."

They contended that New York State Natural's and Niagara Mohawk's requests for a new hearing indicated the firms' lack of concern for quick natural gas service in northern New York.
